

As I understand the FCC has introduced a service known as LPFM and would take priority over current FM translator service. This could impact me in that K-LOVE radio station in CA serves my local community with christian radio which is difficult to find. If it were to be replaced we may not be able to find another christian station that caters to our needs. K-LOVE offers a variety of christian music and programming and ministers to many believers in my area. I feel it would not be in the best interest of the public to lose K-LOVE as it is difficult to find a station that offers the same type of programming to minister to believers in Christ.
